

ADULTS PROVIDE, CHILDREN DECIDE

Offer your child a variety of healthy foods. Let them decide both what they will eat, and how much. If your child is not hungry, don't force them to eat.

Offer meals and snacks at regular, predictable intervals. Children will learn to regulate their own appetite if they know the next meal or snack is not far away.

If your child is not hungry do not force them to eat!